  - Preparation of programs, contents and timetables
  - Organization and execution in collaboration with the Events department
- Coordinate IBRA Research Projects and Scholarship Programs
- Collaboration with national and international medical societies
- Revision and maintenance of the educational concept in line with the needs of clinicians

Your qualifications

- Scientific education or professional training or equivalent education
- Sound knowledge of osteosynthesis
- Several years of professional experience in an international company
- Proven project management experience
- Fluent in German and English, additional languages welcome
- High level of autonomy but able to engage with others
- Assertiveness, able to work under pressure but with a customer service focus
- Willingness to travel (approx. 20%)

We offer you a responsible and diversified function in an international and stimulating setting with advanced social benefits.
